The Cameron Herald

A Daily Once A Week

VOL. 109 NO. 1 | Price 10c Per Copy | CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1968 | All Departments 697-4671 | 14 PAGES TODAY

By F. M. L.

Eloquence should be ours upon the Herald's first number of Volume 109.

It should be more important upon one's own 11th year with one of Texas' senior newspapers.

It is rather remarkable that an entity can be intact, editorially and businesswise, after 108 years. Even our cat isn't that old. And she is white from long years of patience with the Lueckes.

It may be we know less of newspapering and more of other things. We are studying electronic equipment these days. The impact of computers on this indutsry soon may be felt in Cameron.

109-109-109

The Galanffys and Central Texas Orchestra members were quite pleased with the reception last Thursday night, both the coffee and cookies kind and the turnout at National Guard Armory.

It was the second visit in three years. The pianists kept inquiring about their next concert. In three concerts in Temple, Cameron and Killeen, they had played before some 1200 to 1500 people.

Visitors from Rockdale were inquiring about getting a concert there. The Symphony, in fact, is scheduling a second series and is seeking concert dates. And some major considerations are being made for boosting Symphony income to build orchestra numbers from a 40 to a 60 or more instrument operation.

If you want to measure a town's interest in culture, try it with numbers. Cameron thus far has matched or exceeded turnouts in two cities of 30,000 or more. It looks like a good comparison to 109.

109-109-109

In conversation the other night, I, like so many, was wondering aloud at the enormous problems diffusing in this society. Vietnam, riots, slums, smog, gold outflow, etc, etc, and so on.

But if ever there was an era when man has challenged the elements, it is now. It is possible man is failing in his challenge, but in his zest to change things, physically at least, he has created the most incredible, unpredictable fantasia in anyone's memory.

Life's becoming complex enough in U.S. affluence that we don't quite know what to do with it. It may be we, without knowing, do too much.

98th Birthday Observed Here

Miss Nellie Rech observed her 98th birthday last week. She was born in Kansas and had lived in Smithville for almost 60 years before moving to Cameron in 1961.

Mrs. Rech makes her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George McGehee in Cameron.

Members of her family here for the birthday observance were her sons, Frank Rech of Smithville and Edwin Rech and Mrs. Rech of Houston, her grandson, James Rech of Victoria, Mrs. James Rech and daughter Tammy.

LAST RIDE OUT — This tank of the Milam County National Guard unit, once a tank company, is being driven onto a truck platform for a final haul from National Guard Armory. The Milam County unit has been assigned as an air borne platoon, reduced in strength of the armored company staff. The Cameron-based unit is drilling in Marlin for the time being, according to First Sgt. Joseph Vybiral.

Since 5,000 B. C. . . . .

1850's See Settlers

Maysfield stands alone in Milam County in its ability to trace its early history to a period between 5,000 B.C. and 1,000 A.C.

Skeletons and flint tools uncovered on the J. C. Freeman farm in 1956 were authenticated by University of Texas archeologists as pre-historic Edwards Plateau Indians.

First white settlers came in the 1850s and bought land from Rev. Joseph Sneed who had a Mexican land grant. They were southerners, mostly from Alabama, and many brought slaves with them. They called their community Old Graball.

These early settlers were well educated and Miss Lillian Atkinson of Cameron recalls "In Maysfield you were either Methodist or Presbyterian and one was always a little suspicious of the other."

The Academy (an elementary school) was established in the 1850s and later a second school was opened for young people planning to enter college. Greek and Latin were taught in the advanced school.

Winship Allen opened the first store in 1856.

When the Civil War started many of the Old Graball men joined the Confederate Army.

Young sons matured early under the weight of responsibilities at home. William Tyson and Alfred Leroy Massengale, both 14, recalled taking warm clothing to their fathers at Velasco. They traveled by horseback, alone, on an unfamiliar road. Young Tyson's sister died during the war and isolated from neighbors by a blizzard, the family buried her alone.

A postoffice was opened in 1863 and the town was renamed Maysfield after its leading merchant, R. Bruce Mayes. John Thweatt was an early postmaster, a post his grandson now holds.

A cotton gin was built by G. W. Murfee in 1870.

The Maysfield Presbyterian Church was established in 1873 and the Methodist Church about the same time. Both had memberships of about 90.

Mrs. J. C. Freeman recalls a business district that included three general stores, a saddle shop, barber shop, doctor's offices and several saloons.

Those were prosperous times around Maysfield. Hubert Williams built a 14-room mansion on his river bottom farm which was the scene of many social gatherings. It still stands, in stately two-story plantation style, surrounded on all sides by pasture land.

The growing town had its problems. In a history of the Maysfield Presbyterian Church which appeared in the Presbyterian Survey, C. T. Caldwell wrote: "The community had been harassed by a considerable number of people of the outlaw type who did not welcome any moral reform, but the Presbyterian settlers soon dominated the country and cleared out the rough element."

Among those who stayed were the families of:

Darling M. Smith of Alabama who had exchanged two female slaves for the first land purchased from Joseph Sneed;

A. M. Massengale of Alabama who came in 1852;

John Tyson, a charter member of the Methodist Church and his brothers, Thomas and Benjamin;

Thomas Newton Mayes who came from Alabama in 1853 and served as the first justice of the peace;

Dr. Woodson and his son, Dr. Jim Woodson who came in 1855 at the urging of John Tyson and established the first medical practice;

The G. W. Murfee family who moved from Reagan, Tex. in 1860 after a trusted slave poisoned their two small children and confessed plans to poison the entire family;

Elliott Atkinson and his brother-in-law, Charles Lewis. They traveled from Montgomery, Alabama by boat to Mobile and then to Galveston where they boarded the IG&N Railroad riding to the end of the line, Calvert. Here they met the Mayes brothers who convinced them to settle at Maysfield in 1870;

Rev. J. K. P. Newton, a Presbyterian minister, teacher, and later Superintendent of Public Instruction of Milam County;

Andrew Jackson Freeman who arrived in 1875.

Cameron Library Draws $2,000 More For Extra Books

A $2,000 credit for new books for Cameron Public Library has been received at City Hall.

The book fund was provided from federal funds through Texas State Library, Austin.

Cameron Public Library last year received a $3,000 grant, but all federal grants were reduced this year thorugh the library book program.

Dr. George Bowman, library treasurer, said the library can purchase books, bookbinding or microfilm through the funds. Purchases are made from any recognized book publishing house or supplier. Purchases are audited by City of Cameron auditors.

Mrs. Frank Perrin is chairman of the book committee, which is reviewing new book needs of the library. Deadline for purchases is August 1.

Griffith Resigns; Voter Count 2625

The City Council Tuesday reviewed routine reports from department heads and accepted the resignation of City Judge Roy Griffith.

The routine meeting at City Hall lasted about an hour and 45 minutes, according to City Secretary J. P. Fuller.

Fuller also noted that registrations in Cameron's two precincts totaled 2625. Registrations are at record high in the County with 9,967 reported by the Milam assessor-collector's office.

Registration by precinct is 1733 in Yoe Gymnasium or North Cameron and 892 at Milam Courthouse or South Cameron.

Griffith has served as councilman, mayor or city judge for the past 30 years. He is a retired barber.

He wrote in a letter to the Council:

"Now I feel it is time to retire. Have a lot of hunting and fishing to do, and very little time to do it. With best wishes to everyone."

Water Department reported installation of 630 feet of waterline at Cameron Airpark, 100 feet of sewerpipe and 150 feet of sewer-drain pipe at the Airpark.

And 400 feet of six-inch sewerline has been laid on North Jefferson St. to serve seven houses.

The Council also opened four bids on the real and personal tax invoices, but tabled a decision until a later meeting.

Inclement weather hampered street work the past week and is delaying installation of drainage pipe on the scheduled 108-block street paving program.

J. B. Earle, works superintendent, reported asphalt patching and planning traffic striping in downtown and work in the cemetery.

Stone and sand were hauled to Cameron Airpark for a septic tank and sealing of runway.

Other work was routine.

Demos Scheduling May4Referendum

DRINK BILL STUDIED FOR 5% PETITION

Milam Democratic Executive Committee voted Monday evening to include two referendums on the May 4 primary election ballot and appointed a committee to check a third referendum question.

Ballot positions were also drawn at the Monday night meeting in the District courtroom.

The executive committee agreed to include referendum questions on pari-mutuel horse-race betting and the creation of a Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the price of milk and other dairy products, according to Max McClaren, county chairman.

The liquor-by-the-drink referendum will also appear on the county Democratic ballot if a committee check by Felix Matula, Jr., Mrs. Roy Law and Charles Hensley shows that 5 percent of the registered voters requested the vote. Contact will be made with state Democratic officials.

Candidates' names will appear on the county ballot in the order picked by a drawing at the meeting. They will be:

State Representative, District 27- Dan Kubiak, Milton Schiller, Louis Patke.

Commissioner, Precinct 1 - Adolph Gresak, Arnold Glaser.

Both Democratic and Republican primary ballots are expected to carry all three referendums throughout the state.

SEEKING DIRECTOR . . .

UR Planning Phase Begins

Members of the Cameron Urban Renewal Board this week were to interview applicants for a professional Urban Renewal director's post.

Six of the seven-member board met Monday night to review local contacts for the post and to approve a resolution authorizing a contract with U. S. Housing and Urban Development and the Cameron Urban Renewal Agency. Chairman is E. A. Perrin.

Attorney Ed Magre read the complete resolution, which does not specifically hold the non-paid board members liable.

Board members approved the resolution, the first of final steps toward receiving the $57,000 grant already approved for the six-to-10 month planning phase of the downtown project. About $650,000 in HUD funds has been alloted, but not yet released for use in Cameron urban renewal. The City must match on a 3 to 1 basis.

Perrin told the group Monday night he thought it would be well to plan for improvements in the whole 40-acre area identified as the urban renewal area in downtown Cameron. The Board had considered specific possibilities only in the immediate nine-block area.

Perrin read a letter from the Fort Worth office of HUD which showed specific credits or cash of about $157,0.0 to be used by the city in the matching process. Any additional would have to be raised by bond issue or other means. He met with a HUD spokesman from Fort Worth Monday morning.

A committee of the board had met with three local men who were considered for employment as project director. The salary offered was $600 monthly. Each turned down the offer after consideration, according to Jim Camp, committee chairman.

An office location committee, headed by Monroe Fuchs, was authorized to arrange for rental of the Triggs building, former site of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, a building of about 1,000 square feet. Rental was hoped to be about $50 on a six-month lease with renewal option up to two years.

APPLICANTS SOUGHT

Miss Mildred Thornton, board secretary, moved and Fuchs seconded a motion to invite out-of-town applicants for the director's post for interviews with the board. One applicant from Stanton was expected to visit the city.

An urban renewal director is responsible for daily management of project purchases, sales, negotiations for the volunteer Urban Renewal Board. He works with project engineering planners, such as Jim Green, of the Houston engineer firm of Bernard Johnson, who will direct engineering planning phases.

Perrin said he saw the need for viewing the whole 40-acre prospect after learning, by letter from HUD, that a project can be reduced in size if the Urban Renewal Board decides.

Urban board members present were: Albert Hajevsky, Bill Burns, Camp, Fuchs, Miss Thornton and Perrin. The seventh member is Porter Young.

DRAG CREWS WORK 20 HOUR FALSE ALARM

Weekend dragging operations for a Hearne man were called off at Black Bridge after the reported drowning victim was found in Hearne Sunday afternoon.

Cameron volunteer rescue workers, Hearne rescue workers and other volunteers began search operations about 4 p.m. Saturday after a report that Robert McCarver, 28, had drowned at Black Bridge. Sheriff Carl Black said that McCarver, who is married and living in Hearne, had left his car at the bridge, put out fishing lines, and then disappeared.

McCarver was found by the Robertson County Sheriff Sunday at a house in Hearne.

Black said Cameron volunteers stayed all night Saturday. Six boats were used in the searching operation and one from Cameron was damaged.

Springer Cleaners Opens Location On Fannin Ave.

Springer Cleaners, 507 North Fannin, this week opened officially in the new drive-in facility.

The new steel building is 2220 square feet plus an overhang drive-through area to a drive-in service window. It is a first in Cameron, according to John Springer, who made the move from a West First St. location.

Springer points out additional equipment in the new facility includes a drying room for special fabrics, updating of all equipment and an additional press to bring the total to four, and a dressing room.

The steel building is located at Fannin and Sixth Sts.

Inclement weather slowed construction for almost two months. Paving in the drive-through and parking areas will be completed when weather clears, Springer said.

Building was built by Gordon Baskin. Waco Steel Building was building contractor.

Local Man Dies Of Accident Injuries Enroute To Hospital

Will Bennett, 83, died enroute to Scott and White Hospital Friday morning following an accident at 12th and Travis in Cameron.

Police Chief John Sharon said Bennett apparently heard a car approaching as he started across the busy highway and trying to avoid being hit, ran into the front side of a Cameron School District pickup truck. The truck was being driven north on Travis by O. G. Chamberlain, school district tax collector.

Chief Sharon said the accident occurred about 9:30 a.m. He was taken to Newton Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment and was being transferred to a Temple hospital when he died.

Bennett lived at 713 W. 10th St. He is survived by his wife and several step children.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Progressive Baptist Church.

GRAND JURY MEETING

The Milam County Grand Jury will meet Friday, March 22, at the Courthouse in Cameron.

Cong. Poage Says Washington Shaken Up By Week's Events

Washington has been pretty well shaken up this week by several situations which are not directly related to legislation, according to Cong. W. R. Poage in a weekly newsletter.

"The first disturbing event was the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorder. As I pointed out last week, you can't buy law enforcement. You must have the cooperation of our courts and you must make people responsible for their acts.

"We can and we should try to help provide opportunities for all Americans, but we should not undertake to give everybody everything they want. And above all, we should try to make the younger generation understand that when they have had an opportunity it is up to them to use that opportunity.

'The next upsetting feature here was purely political. The primary in New Hampshire involved less votes than will be cast in Dallas County and I don't know that it proved anything other than that there were a substantial number of 'doves' among the Democrats of that state even though the President got more write-in votes than did any Democrat whose name was printed on the ticket, and even though the rather 'hard-line' Mr. Nixon got about as many votes as everybody else put together.

"Anyway it created interminable conversation here and has finally brought candidates of both parties into the open who have heretofore been reluctant to admit that they were running.

"Of much deeper significance has been the run on gold in foreign markets. While there are no gold markets in the United States, because no one other than the government or the Federal Reserve System can hold gold in this country, there has been a powerful effort abroad to break the price at which the United States has committed itself to buy and sell gold -- $35 an ounce.

"At the time this is written (Friday afternoon) no one knows just what the result will be but it is obvious that if these forces can raise the dollar price of gold, it will in effect devalue the dollar and raise the cost of living.

"This is what is vitally important to our people and it is why the United States is making our whole gold reserve available for the maintenance of the established exchange price by removing the so-called 'gold cover.' It is a great mistake to assume that because you as a citizen can't buy gold that you are not interested in the maintenance of this exchange price. If it takes more dollars to buy an ounce of gold, it is almost certain to take more dollars to buy a pair of shoes or a television set.

"That is why I think we must do everything we can to stabilize this situation. As I see it, that involves reducing our expenditures, raising our taxes and achieving a balance in our international payments. Just four hours ago I told the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that if he would bring in bills cutting the Budget request by 5 percent or more for every bill except the military budget, that I would support him and then go on and support a real, not just a token, tax increase."

"Hi! again this week—

Congratulations to the band members who placed in the Solo and Ensemble Contest in Waco last Saturday. 46 First Division ratings. Wow!

All of our thanks to you, Mr. Cox—if it hadn't been for you, these medals would never have been won.

Also, we are proud of our new Band Hall. It is quite an improvement over our old one. We got a taste of "college life" since the contest was in Waco Hall at Baylor University. Seemed real neat to me.

John Ben Sutter won the "Mr. Ugly" Contest sponsored by the Spanish Club to raise money. The money result was a "smashing success!" However, we all know J. B.'s not ugly, but just a real good sport!

Monomials -- does that ring a bell, Kathryn?

We were all looking forward to this week. Monday and Tuesday the juniors and seniors had achievement tests; Wednesday and Thursday, the freshmen and sophomores had their tests. We all got to see how little we knew—or how much.

John Ben, thanks for supplying Jekel with an answer for me—"He who rides in leaky boat always carries a cork." And, to think, Jekel, you said YOU had an answer for me, not John Ben. Keep thinking!

Everyone is beginning to work on Interscholastic League. There are many different categories to choose from. Good luck to all those trying out.

The Teen Club had a Square Dance Friday night. Sorry I couldn't go, but I was babysitting. I heard it was a lot of fun for those who went. If you don't make it a habit to go down there often, try to. Some have worked pretty hard on fixing it up—so let's all support it.

There's a dance March 30 at Simon George Hall with the "Steps Beyond." They are supposed to be a real good band—see ya' there!

So long for now——

Dan Kubiak Announces For Legislature From District 27

Dan Kubiak, a native of Falls County, who now resides in Rockdale, has announced that he is a candidate for the office of State Representative from Falls, Milam, and Robertson Counties in the May 4 Democrat Primary. Kubiak was a school teacher until he filed for this position. He resigned so that he could devote his full time to this campaign.

Dan Kubiak

Ran Close Race in 1964

Kubiak was a candidate for the legislature in 1964 in the old District 45, which at that time, was composed of Burleson, Robertson, and Milam Counties. Falls County has now replaced Burleson County in the new District 27. Dan Kubiak, campaigning only on weekends, due to a teaching commitment, lost by less than 300 votes to the incumbent on his second term in one of the tightest races for State Representative ever recorded in Milam County.

It was equally as tight in Robertson County and with the addition of Kubiak's home county, Falls, and with Rockdale the largest voting box in Milam County, the outlook on Kubiak getting elected is excellent.

Falls County Heritage

Kubiak grew up on a farm at Reagan and attended Marlin High School. At Marlin, Dan was a four-sport letterman having lettered in football, basketball, baseball, and track. Kubiak was co-captain of his football and basketball teams during his senior year at Marlin High School. In addition, Kubiak was voted class favorite boy for three successive years, class vice-president, class president his junior and senior years, vice-president of the Future Farmers of America and won many honors for his leadership ability.

Worked Way Through College

Dan Kubiak, the oldest of six children born to Mr. and Mrs. John Kubiak formerly of Reagan and now of Rockdale, worked his way through Blinn College at Brenham, receiving his Associate in Arts degree in 1959, worked his way through the University of Texas receiving his degree in 1962 with a major in Government, Economics, and Business Administration. Kubiak then continued graduate school at Georgetown University and Midwestern University while at the same time teaching a full load in high school.

Replying to Kubiak's request for a leave of absence from the school system, Schools Superintendent Allen F. Labay wrote: "I wish to join the Board (of trustees) in expressing a warm word of gratitude to one whose ability and personal qualities have meant so much to the progress of our schools our community, our state, and our nation. You have expressed in your book, Ten Tall Texans, that quality that all of us must possess. We all realize that now, as never before, we need capable, honest and sincere people to represent us in our Government, and we feel there is no one better qualified than you to hold the representative position."

Vocational Experience and Leadership Abilities

Two years ago the 30 year old Dan Kubiak (as of March 19) authored Ten Tall Texans, a book which won the award for excellence in historic literature and Americanism. The book, written to bring a deeper understanding of the past and a greater knowledge of those who made it possible, brings together the qualities of patriotism which are so vitally needed in this day and time. It points out that we should use constructive instead of destructive means of making America a greater place to live. In it are Anglo as well as Mexican Texans.

PLATFORM

FULL-TIME REPRESENTATION

I firmly believe that government work is a dedicated endeavor and is more than a full time job for the representative. This job pays the same amount as I make teaching school and I will work full-time for the people in this district. Weakness, inefficiency and corruption is the price we pay for our failure to keep an eye on our state government. Lobbyists tend to rule our legislators. This office must not be a side-line. I want to work full-time for you.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR WOMEN

I firmly believe there is no reason for women to be penalized by laws written in the horse and buggy days. I will work for and submit legislation during the next session to provide equal legal rights for women.

AGRICULTURE

In Falls, Milam, and Robertson Counties we have lost 817 Farms during the last six years. The agriculture committee in our state (21 member committee) has been ineffective as we can see from the record. Having lived on the farm for 20 (twenty) years, I realize that the Federal Government is the controlling factor in Agriculture but our state can aid in many ways. I will work with you and your leaders to secure greater markets for farm products with a greater return on the investment so that the farmer can afford to pay the wages necessary to obtain competent farm labor. Socialization of agriculture is not the answer.

DEPENDENT AND NEEDY

We are spending millions to provide a mere income for our needy but we spend very, very little toward making each and every one of them a productive citizen of our society. In every possible case we must work toward making each of these an employed person with responsibility. Pride in what we are and what we do in America is our foundation for success. We can not neglect this area any longer.

EDUCATION

Having been a teacher for six years, I knew first-hand the problems confronting our District 27 people. We must concentrate more on our vocational programs such as welding, automobile mechanics, television schools, heavy farm equipment operators, and the many areas now lacking in training. Everybody doesn't want to go to college and the need in our area is the vocational program. The jobs are here. Let us go forth hand in hand in this area. The underprivileged must be taught before they get to the public schools so that they can get an equal chance at acquiring a decent education.

PUBLIC WELFARE

A complete revision of our program is needed. We spend approximately one and one-half million dollars on welfare per county in this state and yet those who really need it do not get enough, or none at all, and those who do not need it, acquire it. The basic element should be need and I will work strongly in this area.

STATE SPENDING

I oppose any increase in taxes to the common people. I believe strongly in eliminating wasteful pork barrel projects. We must balance the budget and then provide a sensible tax-cut for all Texans.

JOB OPORPTUNITIES

Eight thousand and twelve pepole have left Falls, Milam and Robertson Counties during the past six years because there were no jobs. I will work with business men, farmers, and industry to increase job opportunities in the three counties. I pledge to work for legislation that will place money in our schools to train mechanics, welders, tractor operators, electrical repair men, draftsmen, and other vocational areas to fill our present needs. Not everyone wants to go to college and the need is here for all of us. Everyone has a talent to offer the world and it is up to us to provide the essential training for any occupation.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

It goes without saying that Texas has one of the most backward constitutions in the United States. I will work for a constitution which will be dealing with the most fundamental elements of our state government. I believe this is so essential.

STATES RIGHTS

I believe strongly in States' Rights and will fight to preserve those that we have and will try to get some of those back that we have lost. The individual is the backbone of our nation.

My wife, Zana, and I want and need your help and support. Zana comes from the small town of Somerville, and like me knows the many problems of the rural area. I believe that a new administration in Austin can reduce the state's spending and can get more mileage out of our taxpayer's dollars and greater economy in government expenditures.

Zana and I are common people and we offer ourselves to the people of this district for your faithful service. We are connected with no lobbyist, no special group, or any particular individual. Maybe the day of honest, sincere, and dedicated government representatives is vanishing but we want to try to return to the God given principles advocated in our Chirstian beliefs. Our future is in your hands. We want a chance to faithfully serve you full-time for we have no other business or any other endeavor to occupy our time. Won't you help us get started?

CONCERT ARTISTS — Symphony Conductor Bob Thomas and duo pianists Louis and Adel Galanffy smile their appreciation during a reception Thursday night for Central Texas Symphony Orchestra members and many of the estimated 425 people attending the concert. Ticket sales for the concert were by Cameron Evening Lions Club.

You can't beat pizza for the snack or buffet supper that really pleases the teenage gang.

Even on impromptu occasions you can impress your guests in next-to-no-time if your kitchen cupboard has a ready supply of packaged cheese pizza. It can be oven-ready in a twinkling and everything you need comes in the same box—flour mixture with yeast for a crispy crust, Italian-style sauce, peppy herb-spice mix and distinctive aged Parmesan cheese. After twenty minutes in a hot oven, the fragrant, savory pizza is ready. It's a good 14-inch size, adequate for snacks for a hungry small crew. For a large group, make up several packages.

When you're party-planning ahead of time, why not embellish the basic cheese pizza with an extra touch and turn it into "Beefed-Up" Pizza. Add some ground beef as in the following recipe—it's like . . . Wow! A glorified Sloppy Joe Pizza!

Cut it into squares or wedges for easy serving on paper plates. Add lots of cold beverages and you've got the sure-fire formula for a successful party with a minimum of effort.

"Beefed-Up" Pizza

1 pkg. Kraft Cheese Pizza

¾ lb. ground beef

Prepare pizza as directed on package. Before adding cheese, arrange meat on top. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 425°, 18 to 20 minutes or until crust is brown.

Dads Honored At Girl Scout Dinner

Cameron Neighborhood Girl Scouts honored their fathers at a banquet Friday night at Methodist Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Bill Holman, Lone Star Council Piper was guest speaker.

Mrs. Holman, addressing a crowd of about 300, stressed the continuity of Girl Scouting, starting with Brownies and continuing through high school and into the adult service program. She challenged the Scouts to stay in the Girl Scout program and fathers and other guests to support Girl Scout activities. "Girl Scouts builds a foundation for future citizenship and teaches principles that will help girls in their future roles as mothers," she said.

Cindy Clark represented the Scouts in a welcome to guests. James Brock replied.

Three camperships were also awarded during the banquet program. Debbie Bryant, Troop 369, was awarded the Donna Slavik Memorial Campership as the outstanding Junior Scout this year. Debbie Coker, Troop 314, and Cindy Clark, Troop 387 won camperships for leading sales in the Girl Scout cookie sale.

Also recognized at the banquet were Mrs. Lester Williams, District IV Chairman and Board Member of the Lone Star Girl Scout Council; Mrs. Richard Williams, Cookie Chairman; Mrs. Wanda Rice; Austin, District Advisor; and Mrs. J. L. Callaway, service team program chairman.

Table decorations were made by each troop and followed the Girl Scout Week theme: Values to Hold—Worlds to Explore and yellow and green colors of the Girl Scouts.

A skit by Cadette Troop 314 preceded presentation of gifts to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

Troops represented at the banquet, and their leaders were: Seniors, Mrs. John Moseley; Troop 314, Mrs. James Kahler and Mrs. Ed Magre; Troop 369, Mrs. Clarence Hanel and Mrs. Stewart Perkins; Troop 387, Mrs. Olan Armstrong, Mrs. Porter Young, Mrs. Derwood Cobb; Troop 323, Mrs. Dean Trubee and Mrs. Bobby Stanislaw; Troop 370, Mrs. Flirsh Ermis and Mrs. Olan McLerran; Troop 288, Mrs. Frank Luecke, Mrs. Morris Eplen and Mrs. Ladis Marek, Jr.

Fashion Emphasis Is On Accessories

By Christine Laws

Fashion emphasis continues to be focused upon the leg. Hose will be textured and colored. Select carefully to complete the "total look". Selections may be from the following styles:

Panty hose - looks strong, mini necessitated use but the comfort factor will continue to accelerate growth.

The Wet look - shiny sheers are expected to continue strong into spring. Silver and gold remain good, but shiny pastels are showing gains and will pick up.

Nets and laces - fishnet slipping- but lightweight variations on the net theme are expected to continue. Laces are predicted to do better than nets. Seamless point d'esprit is predicted to be one of the top fashion items for spring.

Knee socks - show significant gains - lightweight versions tops.

Flower - flower motif expected fashion seller in panty hose, regular hose, and knee socks.

Controlling panty hose - up and coming item, potential unlimited.

Color - dark legs, navy tops, brown and black, off white in demand, pastels take over in spring, pale pink tops.

Some suggestions for the type of stocking to wear with certain fabrics are as follows:

Plain colored fabrics: The imagination can run wild. Color of stockings may either match the fabric or shoes or blend with the fabric. Multi-colored, geometric, paisley, lace, net may be worn with a plain color.

Dainty floral designs are best with a flowing lightweight fabric (chiffon, batiste).

Plaids, checks, tattersalls or geometric designs: Stockings chosen should also be in the geometric group or a solid color. In the designs ribs, diamonds or squares are usually best.

If a solid color is desired, the color should be one which picks up a color in the fabric design. It may be best not to choose the background color since it is usually difficult to match -- the second or third color within the design could be used.

Striped fabric: The principles used for plaids and checks are similar to those for striped fabrics—a ribbed or net stocking in textured hose or a solid color in plain hose (selecting one of the colors in the stripe).

Florals: A plain stocking in a solid color is best; colors may be in an opaque (flat color) or wet-look stocking -- preferably not the background color unless it can be matched. In a textured stocking the fishnet or a very small, almost indistinct pattern are suggested.

Weight of the stocking should be slightly lighter than the weight of the dress fabric - heavy wool fabrics - heavy textured or opaque hose. Lightweight wool crepe - opaque crepe. Cotton and linen - lightweight nets or laces.

Knee socks are generally worn with casual outfits - short skirts, culotte dresses, etc. The skirt should be short so that the proportions will look right. The knee sock is lacy and may be in white or colors. In general, knee socks will tend to shorten height.

White is accepted as a neutral now and may be tried by the most cautious; bone fishnets also offer a subtle texture.

Shoe color may contrast, match or blend with the stocking color. Matching colors is difficult; if the stockings are blended with shoes the hose should be the lighter color.

For many people panty hose will solve the problem of exposing the tops of stockings when seated. A lightweight girdle may be worn over these stockings.

SHOES

Sandals and patent leather are climbing the spring winner charts at a fast clip with platforms, skimmers with tortoise buckle and square heels.

Shoes are on the rising curve of popularity. Along with stockings, they are an easy solution to what to do with an old dress. Just chop off the hem and then dress up the feet and legs.

Shoes are comfortable, easy to understand and do not change fast, and women can follow the logic. Longer skirts demand higher heels. Heels are chunky in style and provide a firm, broad base to walk on. Toes are rounded and blunt.

Whether skirts stay put or drop you will want a new sensation and new look on your feet.

SPRING BAGS

Shapes: The "upshape", saddle bag, duffle and treasure chest; the mini-bag will remain strong with matching mini tote.

Leathers: Bright patents, calf and mutton, polished, alligator and lizard.

Textures: In fabric, and wood; the antiqued look; mesh weaves; soft crushed leather; fabric combined with leather.

Closings: Metal detail less important; antiqued finish and pewter will be standouts; tortoise frames a flashback to the 30s.

There will be a big variety of handbags - bags for capes, for the midi, for the '30s suit, bags like treasure chests and bags pointing East-West again. Bags small to medium in size are best sellers.

109th Coming Up . . .

We begin Volume 109 with this issue.

One hundred and nine years is a long time for publication in Texas. The Cameron Herald has seen some incredible changes and, somehow, kept up.

During the 108th year, The Herald added a children's newspaper, The Tiny Herald, one of the few in the nation and the only one in Texas.

The Herald has been invited to enter editorials in an international weekly newspaper contest.

The Herald has run more pictures during the 108th than any previous year. And we have reported more basic changes in Cameron than any previous year.

We learn a little each year, probably not enough, and appreciate the experiences, each one unique and sometime rankling, of a new year.

The Herald looks forward to its 109th year with more optimism perhaps than in two generations of readers.

What Others Say . .

Man's Inventiveness

The hi-fi is blaring the Skater's Waltz. Keeping time with the music, Mother glides across the kitchen floor leaving streaks of soapy water in her wake. She is washing the floor with her Tootsie Mops, a pair of hollow-soled shoes which dispense the cleanser through perforations onto bristles underneath. At her waist, she carries a tank of soapy water connected by tubes to the Tootsie Mops. By making like Sonja Henie or Peggy Fleming, Mom gets her exercise and the floor comes clean at the same time. The hole-y shoes are just one of a constant stream of inventions for which patents are issured every week as any devotee of the Sat. New York Times. Patents of the Week column knows.

Some may never see the light of the factory while others are already benefiting man in one way or another. Alarm systems seem to be popular. There is one which keeps a drowsy motorist alert by setting off a buzzer on a headband at the back of his ear when he closes his eyes for more than a quarter-second. An electrical contact is attached by adhesive to the eyelid. Another device designed to thwart wig-nappers is an alarm circuit connecting all store mannequins' wigs. A wig's weight on a plate keeps the circuit open. If it is lifted, the switch closes and an alarm bell sounds.

Food also occupies the inventor's skill. New methods can cut the ripening time of blue cheese from three months to eight to 14 days. Patent 3,362,831 is a crisp, chewable substance which can create artificial fruits and vegetables with the addition of artificial flavoring and other substances.

Sliding devices help the amateur bricklayer to keep a wall level and straight or teach a bowler how to keep score on strikes and spares.

One of the inventions which seem to have unlimited possibilities is called "Holey Smoke" by its creator Betty Lou Raskin, chemist and psychologist at Johns Hopkins University. Slow-setting and harmless, the smoke can be colored for signaling or used as a third dimensional floating movie screen. Allegedly it can protect crops from cold, prevent evaporation from reservoirs and provide artificial snow for movies and TV. In powdered form it can be a filler in paper-making or used as a cigarette filter, insulation, lubricant, packing or fertilizer carrier.

The variety of man's imaginative creations is endless. And some are so simple, yet efficient, they make one wonder, "Why didn't I think of that?"

Candidates Let Off Hook On Liquor By Drink Poll

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

All those candidates for governor got a hefty bit of pressure off them when both the state Democratic and Republican executive committees decided to put the question of liquor-by-the-drink on the May 4 ballot.

With increasing concern over liquor law enforcement and the Texas Liquor Control Board, coupled with Gov. John Connally's push for liquor-by-the-drink, gubernatorial candidates have been pressured hard for their stand on the issue.

Now, with the question being put to the voters in a referendum, all the candidates have to say is that they will abide by the wishes of the voters.

Also on the ballot as referendums will be the question of pari-mutuel horse-race betting and the creation of a Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the price of milk and other dairy products.

Although none of the voters' answers to the three questions will be binding, the issues do assure a high turnout of the more than 4 million registered voters. It will take an act of the Legislature to put any of them in effect. Ballots will merely say: "This proposition is only an expression of public opinion and has no force or effect as law."

Legislature, directed the first-primary vote on local option pari-mutuel gambling. Petitions signed by 119,000 voters called for voter opinion on creating a Texas Dairy Commission with power to regulate milk prices.

Both party leaders decided the liquor-by-the-drink issue is hot enough to warrant a check on that, too. This referendum will be the first opportunity Texas voters have had to express their opinions statewide since the repeal of prohibition in the 1930s.

Campaigns already are shaping up on the high-voltage drinking and gambling issues. Opponents of a dairy commission also are organized for battle. Anti-Crime Council of Texas has formed to combat organized crime and defeat the racing proposition. Committee for Tourism and Regulated Sale of Mixed Drinks stands ready to get back into action. Dry spokesmen report they have organized to fight liquor-by-the-drink. Texas Racing Association is ready with a campaign for a wagering proposal.

Meanwhile, the House committee studying liquor laws has asked for an attorney general's opinion on constitutionality of a mixed drink local option bill.

PARKS IMPROVED

While finishing touches were applied to the $1 million renovation of the Davis Mountains State Scenic Park near Fort Davis, new federal grants were approved for four other state parks.

Federal funds of $104,150 matched by a state appropriation of like amount will finance a 498 acre park 14 miles southwest of Cleburne.

Federal funds of $28,500, also matched by legislative appropriation, is earmarked for Mission San Francisco del Los Tejas Historic Park northwest of Crockett, a 118 acre historic park in the Piney Woods.

Lake Brownwood State Recreation Park near Brownwood will get $117,150 federal money matched by the state for its 538 acre park.

Another federal grant of $99,900, matched by state funds, will create the 588 acre Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley State Scenic Park near Mission.

Dedication tentatively is set for March 28 of the Davis Mountains Park. Also slated for dedication by Governor Connally that same day at the Park is scenic Texas Mountain Trail, one of ten unveiled by Connally last January to lure tourists off the beaten path into Texas areas of outstanding beauty and historic interest.

SCREWWORM CASES CUT

Texas' screwworm eradication program cut reported cases of infestation from 49,484 in 1962 to 1,219 in 1967. So reports Auditor C. H. Cavness in his audit of the Animal Health Commission. Commission's share of the program has been turned over to the federal government except for security supervision of the Rio Grande Valley screwworm fly production plant and the required inspection force.

COURTS SPEAK

State won its $1,000 civil penalty suit against a Bellville contractor under a water permit law. The road builder was first permanently enjoined from using public waters without permit from the Texas Water Rights Commission.

State Supreme Court denied rehearing of decision that Hillsboro cannot enforce a peddlers and vendors ordinance against an insurance company.

Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a six-year probated sentence for a Houston lawyer who encouraged his client to lie on the witness stand.

Same court ordered a new trial for the man who received the death penalty for the shooting death of a potato chip salesman in Chambers County.

APPOINTMENTS

John Stokes of Lufkin is the new executive director and special counsel for the Republican Party of Texas. He succeeds Al Allison of Dallas who resigned to accept a private business offer.

Gubernatorial candidate John Hill named Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin as executive director of his statewide campaign.

Gov. Connally appointed A. E. Fawcett Jr. of Houston and R. F. (Bob) Byers of Dallas to the Texas Water Well Drillers Board.

House Speaker Ben Barnes has appointed Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock as chairman of the House Interim Committee to study egg importation and grading.

William J. Harding will direct activities of the new Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies.

John Peace of San Antonio a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas System, has been appointed by Chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr. as a member of the Board for Lease of University Lands.

MORATORIUM ASKED

The Texas Animal Health Commission has joined the Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in asking the U.S. Department of Agriculture to delay a proposed new regulation prohibiting interstate shipment of cattle from counties not certified for brucellosis control.

Under the proposed regulation, cattle in uncertified counties could be sold for consumption only in Texas, unless the cattleman has his herd qualified himself, which involves personal expense.

Ninety-five Texas counties are not certified, and one AHC official estimates that three years will be required for compliance. As the regulation now reads, it will go into effect sometime between May 1 and January 1, 1969.

The USDA regulation is being sought by those states which are completely certified and do not want infected cattle being shipped in from state not so certified.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

According to all the newspapers I've read in the past few weeks and most of the brainy-type television discussions I've listened to, nearly everybody agrees nearly everything is in a mess nearly everywhere in the world, from the east side of the city limits of Cameron right on clean around the world and back to the west side, and in places it may even get inside the town, although everything seems fairly normal around here to me.

Therefore I hesitate to add to the confusion and unrest now beseiging the country, but a thought has been nagging at me for some time now and I might as well bring it out into the open.

As I understand the political experts, there is a vague possibility that the Presidential election this year may be thrown into the lap of Congress. In case no candidate gets a clear majority of the electoral votes, they point out, Congress has to select the President, with each of the 50 states having only one vote. The man who gets 26 votes wins and moves into the White House if he can get through the picket lines.

On the surface this seems fair, after all we've got to have a President, somebody's got to be at the top to take the blame, but there's just this one thing. Everybody's forgetting the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has already ruled under its one-man-one-vote decision that all Congressmen should represent about the same number of people, but if a state with no more people than say, Nevada, is going to have the same voice as a state with as many people as California or New York in selecting a President, if the election is thrown into Congress, then you can see what this does to that Constitutional principle.

Obviously, with Nevada with its puny population having as much say-so as New York with its millions, the Supreme Court would have to rule every President Congress selected as unconstitutional.

Congress could select a President on Monday and the Supreme Court would throw him out on Tuesday.

This could go on for years, although not forever because there wouldn't be any President to appoint new members to the Court when it finally passed on.

And you think we got troubles in Viet Nam.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Town Country DAYS

Choose Method Of Weed Control

By J. D. Moore

Almost every homeowner, stockman and dairyman, whether rural or urban will encounter a weed problem this year either in their lawn, pasture, along the fence row or otherwise.

County agents through the demonstrations approach believe those with weed problems would do well to try some of the new chemicals for weed control on at least an acre size demonstration. Now is the time to decide.

Most of our Central Texas folks backed off from the use of 2-4-D as a means of controlling weeds due to the drift hazard to susceptible crops. However, 2-4-D (low volatile ester) at the rate of 1 lb. per acre in 15 to 20 gallons of water continues to be our most economical method of controlling weeds. This method is safe if there are no susceptible crops within 2 miles toward the northwest direction from the place of application.

Simazine 80 W has a clearance label for its use in freshly sprigged Bermuda or established permanent pastures. Simazine kills weeds by entering through the root system of newly germinating weeds and grasses. After application, rainfall moves simazine down into the weed root zone where it is absorbed.

As weeds emerge they appear normal, but in a few days the leaves turn yellow and die. Simazine effectively kills weeds but will not hurt Bermuda grass when used according to label directions. Simazine is non-volatile. There is no drift hazard to nearby crops such as cotton.

Simazine should be applied shortly after sprigging and before weeds come up on established pastures. Simazine can be applied from fall to spring depending on the weed problem, but before weed emergence.

When applying, make a slurry by pre-mixing Simazine 80 W in a bucket of water before pouring it into the spray tank. Use a minimum of 15 gallons of water per acre to obtain thorough coverage. Use rates of Simazine 80 W according to soil type as follows: on fine sandy soil low in organic matter use 1 pound per acre. On sandy loam soils use 1½ to 2½ pounds per acre. Loam and clay soils low in organic matter use 2½ to 3 pounds per acre and on clay soils use 3 to 4 pounds per acre. We advise to use the low end of the rates.

NOTE: Do not apply within 7 days following cutting. Do not graze dairy or beef cattle or sheep for 30 days following the 1 to 3 lb. per acre application; or 60 days following the 4 lb per acre application. Do not cut for hay for 60 days following the 1 to 3 lbs per acre application; or 90 days following the 4 lb application.

Measure off 100 feet in the field to be sprayed. Clock the number of seconds it takes the spraying to cover this distance in the gear and throttle selected for spraying. With the rig standing still, engage the power take-off and set the throttle at spraying position. Set the pressure at 30 lbs, catch the output from several nozzles for the number of seconds it took to cover 100 feet.

Determine the average output per nozzle in ounces. If nozzles are spaced 20 inches apart on the boom, multiply the average nozzle output by 2. This equals the gallons of spray mix that will be delivered per acre.

Most annual broadleaf and grassy weeds, including crabgrass, little barley, shallow germinating annual sandburs and Florida parsley will be controlled.

Most common mistake in chemical weed control is waiting too late to apply chemicals. They should be applied by the time weeds are two inches high. Application before germination occurs is recommended. That means chemicals should be applied now and by early April on pastures for best weed control. Your county agent will help you with your demonstration.

Counseling Workshop Held At Rogers School For Area Seniors

ROGERS

The faculty and Student Council of Rogers High School staged their first area counseling workshop on Wednesday, March 13, in the high school building, with seniors from five high schools attending.

Representatives from six colleges and from the military service were present for the workshop.

The session opened with a general meeting in the school cafetorium at 9:15 a.m. with Steve Ward, Student Council president welcoming guests.

Cyril Gloria, vice president of the council introduced Dr. R. M. Logan, director of Student Aid at A&M University, who gave the opening address "You Can Go."

Dr. Logan told the seniors that every qualified boy or girl among them can go on for further education past high school if he has the enthusiasm and really wants to go.

There were sessions in various rooms for students to hear and ask questions of the college and military representatives, including Dr. Logan of A&M, Dr. H. C. Farrell of TJC, Sheridan Cavitt of Central Texas College, Larry Gilliam, director of counseling at McClennan Community College; Miss Harriett Province of James Connally Technical Institute; Miss Karen Stark of Mary Hardin-Baylor College; and Sgt. Warren with the military services, who was representing all branches of the service.

Minnows Source Of Extra Income For Pond Owners

The production of minnows for fish bait can become a source of income for pond owners.

Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist at Texas A&M University, says that with little effort thousands of minnows can be raised in a small farm pond. Only a few of the more than 50 species of Texas minnows are usually used for bait purposes, he adds. Among the most popular are golden shiner, red shiner (redhorse) goldfish and fathead.

A constant water supply is a must and wells and springs are the best source, says Klussmann. City water containing chlorine is not recommended as a water source for minnow production.

Minnows feed on microscopic plant and animal life, called plankton. Plankton growth may be increased by fertilizing the pond. Inorganic commercial fertilizer in a 4-4-1 ratio gives the most economical results, points out the specialist.

Klussmann likes to supplementally feed newly hatched young minnows and suggests the use of tankage, poultry laying mash, hog supplement, cottonseed or soybean meals and wheat shorts. The minnows should be fed daily at the same time and in shallow water. They should get about as much food as they will eat in two hours.

The specialist says to stock the pond with only one kind of brood fish between March 1 and May 1 and at a rate of 200-400 minnows per surface acre for goldfish and golden shiner; and 500-1,000 per surface acre for fatheads. Stock, he adds, should be obtained from a reputable dealer with brood fish 4-6 inches long for goldfish and 2-3 inches long for fatheads.

He suggests a visit with the local county agent for more information on a hobby which can be made into a profitable farm enterprise especially in areas where fishing is popular.

IRS Questions

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — What form do I use to report a profit on the sale of my home?

A — Profits on the sale of a home should be reported on Schedule D, "Gains and Losses From Sales or Exchanges of Property." Taxpayers who filed this schedule with their return last year should find it included with the 1040 tax package they received in the mail.

Copies of Schedule D are available at many banks and post offices as well as local offices of the IRS.

Q — I owe a couple hundred dollars on my 1967 tax. Can I pay half of this when I file and the rest later?

A — No. The tax due must be paid in full when the return is filed.

Q — I drive to work every day and have several regular riders. Am I taxed on the money they give me to cover driving expenses?

A — Payments such as you describe do not have to be reported as income unless they exceed expenses.

Q — I am expecting a refund this year. Do I use the envelope that came in the 1040 package?

A — Yes. All returns calling for a refund should be sent to the IRS Service Center. Taxpayers expecting refunds but who do not have an envelope addressed to the Service Center should check page 10 of the 1040 instructions for the correct address.

Q — I read in the 1040 instructions that unemployment benefits paid by a company are taxable. Does that include state unemployment benefits too?

A — No. State unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported.

Q — Can you claim someone as a dependent if he does not live with you?

A — A person does not have to be a member of your household to be eligible as a dependent as long as he or she is a close relative.

A parent, brother or sister, child or grandchild are among those that meet the legal definition of a close relation.

Q — Where can I hire someone to help me prepare my tax return?

A — Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association. They should be able to make a recommendation.

Q — I changed jobs last year and when I left my old job I collected what had been built up in my profit - sharing account. Is that taxable?

A — Yes. However, if you received the funds all in one year because you left the company, then the excess over your contribution could be taxed as a captial gain. Otherwise, report it as ordinary income.

Q — My company provides me with an expense account to cover costs while I am on business trips. Do I have to report this on my return?

A — This should be noted by checking the box at the bottom of page 2 of Form 1040. If you account to your employer for these expenses and your reimbursement matches these expenses, then there is nothing further to report.

However, if your reimbursement exceeds your expenses, then the excess should be reported as income. If your expenses were greater than your reimbursement then you report the reimbursement and deduct the expenses. Details on expense accounts can be found on page 7 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — Are lump sum Social Security payments taxable?

A — No. All Social Security benefits are tax exempt.

Q — Withholding covered my 1967 income tax. Do I still have to file a return?

A — Whether you owe additional taxes is not the determining factor. If your income was $600 or more, or $1,200 if you are 65 or older, you must file. If you have net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more you must file a return and pay self-employment tax.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Was Mrs. O'Leary, whose cow kicked over the lantern, legally liable for burning down the whole city of Chicago? After all, if she had not left that lantern in the barn, the fire never would have gotten started in the first place.

Obviously, in following the chain of cause and effect, it is only fair to cut off responsibility at some point. Even if you do something wrong, the law won't blame you for every single consequence, from here to eternity.

But just where is the cutoff point? That is a crucial issue in a great many of the personal injury suits so common in our courtrooms today.

To begin with, you are not liable at all if no causal connection can be shown. Suppose you are driving with an expired driver's license, and a pedestrian steps in front of your car—too suddenly for you to stop.

True, you did wrong by driving with an expired license. But that would not make you liable for hitting the pedestrian, since there was no causal connection between the two events.

Even assuming a causal connection, you are still not liable if your action was not the "proximate" cause of the final harm.

What is a proximate cause? Of course, no two cases are identical.

But what the law looks for most often is foreseeability. That is., you are usually not held liable if harm was not reasonably foreseeable as a result of your action.

On the other hand, if harm was indeed foreseeable, you may be responsible even if the exact form of the harm was not. Pulling away someone's chair, making a minor bump likely, could lead to liability for a major injury as well.

What if there is an "intervening" cause—some misconduct by a third party, following your own misconduct, and leading to the accident? Does that intervening cause let you "off the hook"?

Often it does. Yet you might still be liable if that intervening cause was something you could fairly have expected.

For example: a hardware dealer left a rake, standing upright, in a busy aisle. A small boy, running by, stepped on the teeth of the rake, snapping the handle against a woman's head.

When she sued the hardware man for damages, he argued that his original error was nullified by the boy's later misconduct in running through the aisle. However, the court held him liable in spite of this intervening cause.

Reason: he shojld have foreseen, when he left the rake there, that boys—especially small ones— will be boys.

BARBED WIRE and Babbling Brooks

Spring sun shines on babbling brooks—and barbed wire. A bird song lilts prettily on fragrant air—and a sniper shot splits the silence. New green burgeons through brown winter grasses—and red blood drenches jungle earth.

One's description of the season depends upon location. In some parts of the world there are happy people, enjoying the spring, looking forward to Easter services. Other faces of this globe find suffering people, anguished by the sunshine, hungry, afraid, lonely, dying.

Centuries ago on black Calvary hill, Jesus of Nazareth demonstrated perfect love. Down through the ages, His life and teachings have pointed the way for mankind to heal the ills of the world.

So, in this Lenten season let us offer ourselves—our time and talents—to the service of His Church, in its task of making His kingdom come upon earth.

American Food Habits Shifting; National Dietary Levels Change

COLLEGE STATION

Despite higher income and the availability of wholesome nutritious food at the lowest real cost of anytime in our history many American diets do not meet recommended allowances.

A recent nationwide survey of food consumption conducted by the Department of Agriculture reported that Americans' food habits were shifting, causing change in national dietary levels.

The great variation of food use from household to household was significant, reported Extension foods and nutrition specialists at Texas A&M University.

Twenty-one percent of all households had poor diets. This figure was 15 percent in 1955. Half of the households surveyed met or exceeded requirements for a good diet.

The specialists concluded that many Americans are making a poor choice, nutritionally, of our food abundance. Incomes do not necessarily determine good nutrition, pointed out the specialists.

Low income households, those with incomes less than $3,000, had greater returns in calories and nutrients per food dollar than households with higher incomes, on the average.

Most families received adequate amounts of protein, iron, thiamine and riboflavin.

Nutrients most often in short supply were calcium, vitamin A and ascorbic acid. Nutrient shortages were associated with use of less - than - recommended amounts of milk, milk products, vegetables and fruits, say the specialists. The study showed a 10 percent decline in the consumption of fresh milk and other dairy products that are primary sources of calcium.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman indicated nationwide cooperation will better the nation's nutritional status: enrichment of flour, breads, cereals; improvement of nutritive value of processed foods; encouragement to shop for best nutritional values for purchases made and other consumer education.

The Texas Agriculture Extension Service's educational program is directed toward better food buying and toward work with low income families and donated foods.

Marine Private Wilbert G. Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eulice Malone of Rt. 1, Milano, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

All of us dream of someday catching a really big bass.

It has been proven however, that 10 percent of the fishermen catch 90 percent of the bass weighing five pounds or over. So evidently this 10 percent has some "secret."

Lauren Johnston, a highly competent Austin angler, thinks there are two rules for taking big bass. One is using a proven big-bass bait in big-bass waters. The other is just keeping the lure in the water.

Johnston, a flooring contractor, is the only man to win the Austin Bass Club's big bass of the year award three times. So he can speak with authority.

Attitude in fishing for large bass is all-important, Johnston stresses. He fishes for big bass and nothing else. He says he'd rather fish all day and get one strike from a big fish than to actually catch a dozen small ones. He has gone as long as 72 straight hours without a strike.

Few of us possess such dogged determination and patience.

Johnston's favorite bait is the jig and eel, a proven big-bass getter. It is a leadhead jig, about one-half ounce in size, with a six-inch black pork eel or "spring" lizard impaled on it. This bait is worked slowly along the bottom in deep water where big bass hang out.

Few really large bass are taken in the shallows along shore, where most people fish.

Actually, there's no real mystery in using the jig and eel, says Lauren. Main thing is to have confidence in it. Should he go two or three hours without a strike, he must console himself with the fact that the fish wouldn't be hitting other baits, either.

Only by sticking with it, hour after hour, can the fisherman hope to succeed with any consistency. It stands to reason that the man fishing eight hours stands a much better chance of taking a big bass than does the angler who fishes only an hour.

Pinpoint casting is important when using this bait. It should be cast to some cover where bass might hang out, like a stump in the water or along a weed bed. Usually a bass will grab the bait as it plummets down. Evidently he thinks something live has fallen into the water so he quickly pounces upon it.

For this reason, the fisherman should allow the line to go slack when the bait is falling. If he keeps the line taut, Johnston says, the bait will go down at a tangent. It might hit next to a stump, for example, but by the time it hits bottom, it will be six feet toward the boat and away from the prime area to be fished.

By allowing the bait to sink on a limp line, the angler has no feel and cannot tell when a fish is striking the bait. For this reason he must watch the line closely. Should it start to straighten out and move off to the side, that's the signal to rear back on the rod and drive the hook home. This action must be forceful since a big bass has a tough mouth.

If the bait hits bottom without a strike, then it should be pulled in slowly, along the bottom, in stop and go jerks, and all the way back to the boat. This is a tedious, sometimes exasperating way to fish.

But it's highly successful! Just ask Lauren Johnston. He has big-bass trophies to prove it.

Industrial Expansion Conference To Draw Key Business Heads

AUSTIN

Governor John Connally has officially invited key business and civic leaders in the State to attend the first annual Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion in Austin, April 3, at Austin Municipal Auditorium.

Governor Connally said, "Texas is firmly committed to encouraging and assisting orderly industrial expansion, both from outside the state and from within. Many of our citizens don't realize that as much as 85 percent of all industrial growth in Texas during the past few years has been due to the expansion of existing industry. At this conference we will look closely at expansion that took place in the state during 1967 and talk about how we can prepare for the future."

The Austin gathering will also serve to recognize contributions to the state's economy by manufacturers who undertook extensive expansion during 1967. Five Texas manufacturers will receive Governor's Industrial Expansion Awards in a luncheon presentation by the Governor.

Featured guest speakers will be two leaders of American industry: John D. Harper, president of Aluminum Co. of America, and James J. Ling, chairman of the board of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc.

Registration for the conference is $10. Reservations and further information may be obtained from the Texas Industrial Commission, Box JJ, Capitol Station, Austin.
